

Lonborg, Yaz Lead Sox Win

Boston Takes One-Hitter, 5-0

BULLETIN

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg pitched a one-hitter and Carl Yastrzemski hit two home runs Thursday, leading the Boston Red Sox to a 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the second game of the World Series and tying the best-of-seven classic at one apiece.

The third game will be played in St. Louis Saturday.

BOSTON — Right-hander Jim Lonborg, trying to get the Red Sox even for two games of the World Series, had a no-hitter through seven innings this afternoon and the Red Sox had a 2-0 lead over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lonborg, pitching smoothly and going to a 3-2 count only four times, set down 18 straight men. He got home run help in the fourth when Carl Yastrzemski lined a shot a dozen rows deep in the right field stands.

Dick Hughes, the Cardinal starter, allowed only four hits through the first five innings, but was lifted after he had control trouble in the sixth. He was replaced by right-hander Ron Willis.

With one out, George Scott and Reggie Smith drew consecutive walks as Hughes threw six straight pitches off the plate. Jerry Adair was safe on Mike Shannon's error, loading the bases.

Rico Petrocelli brought the run in with a long sacrifice fly to center. Elston Howard was intentionally walked with first base open, but Lonborg struck out to end the inning.

Lonborg had a perfect game through six innings, but lost it in the seventh when he walked Curt Flood after the Cardinal centerfielder fouled off several pitches on a 3-2 count with one out.

UCC Hits 46.1 Per Cent

Pledges totaling $614,321 were reported this noon at the first report luncheon in the 1967-68 United Community Campaign.

Jack Newman, general chairman of the annual fund raising drive, said the amount pledged represents 46.1 per cent of this year's goal of $1,360,700.

The major firms corporate divisions heads all other divisions with pledges totaling $220,151 or 35.8 per cent of its quota.

Today's luncheon was held at the Community Services Building, 3833 E. 2nd St.

Not Every Urban Renewal Story Will End Happily

By CHARLES TURBYVILLE
Citizen Staff Writer

Some stories don't have happy endings. A good many people in the city's urban renewal project area are going to be worse off because of their displacement, it appears now.

The responsible city officials are aware of it. One gets the impression they are doing all they can to make the best of some unfortunate circumstances.

"This is the greatest problem we're up against: The area has just plain declined economically and physically over the last 10 years," said Donald Laidlaw, urban renewal director. "A piece of property that may have been worth $10,000 about 20 years ago is worth maybe $5,000 now."

An example of the consequences of this deterioration is the situation of the owner of an automobile body shop on South Main Avenue. His principal business comes from the owners of downtown parking lots, who bring him cars damaged by attendants.

He is well located to handle this business. The parking lot owners all know him and he knows them. In many cases, he can repair a damaged car and have it back to the parking lot before the car owner returns.

Analysis

But neither his land nor his building are worth very much. There appears little chance of his receiving enough from the city to be able to purchase another site equally convenient for his customers.

"Some people blame the threat of urban renewal for the area's decline," Laidlaw said. "But look at East Congress Street — we certainly never 'threatened' urban renewal there."

Many residents of the area find themselves in sad circumstances. With what they receive for their properties, they will not be able to purchase homes which are, for example, within walking distance of downtown Tucson.

In other cases, they'll be separated from neighbors and relatives they have grown to depend upon for companionship or help.

"Some of them believe the city is trying to gouge them," Laidlaw said. "This is something we may not be able to overcome."

The city offers property owners Continued Page 9

A Beautiful Tucson Day

There is no doubt
In my mind;
This weather is
The perfect kind.
— U. Tope Iyah

We should have a near-perfect day tomorrow, as should the rest of the state.

The weathermen see generally fair skies, except for some cloudiness in the late afternoon and evening. The chance of rain is only 10 per cent.

The highest tomorrow will be between 85 and 90 and the low tonight will be in the mid-60s. Yesterday we got up to 88 and today the mercury bottomed at 66.

There were no reports of rain anywhere in the state yesterday. The state's hot-spots were Gila Bend and Parker, both with 94. Lows today varied from 41 at Flagstaff to 71 at Yuma.

At 2 p.m. today, it was 8 degrees here, with 35 per cent relative humidity.

Full Weather Report, Page 37

IN VIET WAR

Senators Call For More Aid From Asians

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly a score of senators, hawk and dove alike, joined Sen. Charles H. Percy today in sponsoring a resolution calling on President Johnson to try harder to get non-Communist Asian nations to help out in Vietnam.

"The armed forces of the United States should not continue to bear an ever-increasing proportion of the fighting in Vietnam," the proposed resolution said.

"The non-Communist nations of Asia, including South Vietnam, should contribute substantially more manpower and resources to share the military, diplomatic, economic and psychological tasks in Vietnam; and the President... should move with greater determination to obtain (such) commitments..."

The "sense of the Senate" resolution is designed to "strengthen our hand" in the Vietnam conflict, Percy told UPI. But its introduction today was expected to reopen the Senate's Vietnam debate.

Percy's senior colleague, GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, said he had been asked to sign the resolution but declined.

Dirksen, who has backed President Johnson's Vietnam policy, told newsmen:

"I think this resolution is full of mischief. How do you think the mothers and fathers of boys from Australia and New Zealand now in Vietnam will feel? If Senators will just leave our people alone we'll get somewhere in Vietnam."

Dirksen said he was "fed up" Continued Page 9

Senate Votes Approval Of Antipoverty Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed Thursday a $4,658,000,000 two-year extension of the antipoverty program.

The vote was 60 to 21.

Final action came after 11 days of Senate debate and a decision to strip from the measure a $2.8 billion emergency job program which its advocates said offered the best promise of fighting poverty.

The bill was sent to the House where the Education and Labor Committee has been struggling with a similar measure. Administration leaders conceded it faced a bitter fight there.

The final Senate version authorized $2,258,000,000 for the antipoverty programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the current year and $2.4 billion in fiscal 1969 starting next July 1.

The total for the current year is $198 million more than the $2.06 billion asked by President Johnson.

The Senate refused on a 50-36 vote earlier Thursday to cut this $198 million out of the measure.

The bill, once it is signed into law, still must be followed by an appropriation for the present fiscal year.

The bill represents a complete rewriting of all of the important sections of the OEO act by a Senate Labor subcommittee which has conducted a comprehensive study of the program lasting several months.

However, all of the present Continued Page 9

For Yanks In Vietnam

CASUALTIES TOP 100,000

Was He No. 100,000?

U.S. Marines and Navy medical corpsmen show anguish in their faces as they work in vain to save a wounded buddy on a beach southeast of South Vietnam. The picture was released as the U.S. Command in Saigon reported today that recent heavy fighting had pushed total U.S. casualties in the Vietnam war over the 100,000 mark, including 13,643 killed, 86,635 wounded and 756 missing. (AP Wirephoto)

House Panel To Discuss CAP Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House interior committee will meet Tuesday to discuss proposed legislation to authorize the Central Arizona Project, an aide said today.

The special meeting was called by Chairman Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., to talk about a Senate appropriations committee move and the authorization as a rider on a public works funds bill, which is expected to be considered by the Senate next week.

Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., persuaded his colleagues on the Senate committee to approve the rider in an attempt to force a House vote on the Central Arizona Project.

The Senate has passed a Central Arizona Bill, which appears stymied in the House interior committee.

Bandits Get $1.5 Million Haul At Du Pont Mansion

MIAMI (UPI)—Five hooded gunmen barged into the bayside mansion of Willis H. du Pont early today, forced him to open his safes and, after nibbling at his pork roast, fled with his $1.5 million Grand Duke Mikhailovitch coin collection.

DuPont said the Russian coin collection was the finest outside the Soviet Union.

The gunmen demanded to know why du Pont wasn't "working to earn a living like everybody else."

DuPont at first estimated his loss at something over half a million dollars, but revised this upward by a million after he discovered the missing coins were the Grand Duke Mikhailovitch collection.

He said the collection was put together over a 50-year period by a museum curator in Moscow and acquired by his father. He said he had planned to give the collection to the Smithsonian Institution.

DuPont talked to a newsmen in the thickly-carpeted study of the home he built three years ago.

The green-felted drawers from the collection of around 7,000 coins were strewn over the room, and the pork roast on which the burglars dined was still on the desk until duPont had a butler take it away.

A Siamese cat played in the debris of papers strewn on the floor.

"We went to bed about midnight and the five men just busted in about 12:30 a.m.," said duPont. "They came right into our bedroom and showed their weapons at us and said 'We want your money. Tell us where it is or we'll blow your brains out.'"

The bandits broke into the 42-room mansion at about 2 a.m., told du Pont they would "blow your brains out" unless he opened two safes.

They bound and gagged the millionaire, his wife, their 4-year-old son, their maid, butler

Continued Page 5

Hanoi Says 6 Planes Downed

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. troops suffered 1,920 casualties last week, including 141 dead, it was announced today. The new figure sent casualties for the war soaring above the 100,000 mark, most of them suffered in the first nine months of this year.

A military spokesman put the weekly tolls at 141 dead, 1,758 wounded and 21 missing, as compared with the Communists who lost 1,155 dead the past week. Most of the casualties were suffered in the Con Thien area just below the Demilitarized Zone. It was a slight rise over the week before when 128 Americans died.

The casualty figures for the war, using January 1961, as the starting point, reached 100,025. Of these 13,634 were dead, 86,635 wounded and 756 missing to make the Vietnamese war almost as costly as the one in Korea.

pickup 2nd pgh 061A: The report, and eliminate 15th pgh: He said

Hanoi Radio reported new air raids against North Vietnam today and said six planes were shot down, two of them by MIGs, and "several" pilots captured. Hanoi raised its claims of American planes downed in three days to 23 but the United States has acknowledged the loss of only two.

American planes hit bridges near the border of Communist China for the second straight day Wednesday and lost one plane, the 689th acknowledged shot down over the north. Hanoi claimed nine shot down on Wednesday.

The report came as fresh fighting broke out in South Vietnam, and as U.S. warplanes intensified the North Vietnam air war.

The planes hit targets in Hanoi and Haiphong and for the second consecutive day struck within seconds flying time of the Red China frontier.

The spokesman said one plane, a U.S. Air Force F4D Phantom, Wednesday became the 689th of the war to be shot down over North Vietnam. Both pilots are missing.

Giant B52 Stratofortresses Continued Page 9

Nogales Doctor Employs Banned Anti-Cancer Drug

This is the first of a two-part series on the controversial anti-cancer drug, Laetrile, a registered trade name for a substance extracted from apricot kernels. Proponents insist it kills cancer cells. Opponents say it is worthless. The series will cover both sides of the issue.

By LEN DAVIS
Citizen Staff Writer

A number of Tucson residents and others drive to Nogales, Son., three times a week to get $11 injections of the anti-cancer drug, Laetrile, made in Canada and banned there and in the United States.

Most of the patients are terminal cancer victims.

With hope in their hearts and confidence in the therapeutic value of Laetrile, they enter Avenue Obregon 228 through a bilious green arcade into the time-worn reception room of Dr. Antonio Alcantar.

The 63-year-old physician and retired surgeon — he gave up surgery in 1965 because of arthritis in his hands — got his M.D. in 1928 from Universidad Michoacana de San Nicholas de Hidalgo in Morelia, the capital of Michoacan. He has practiced medicine in Nogales for more than 35 years.

On a wall of Alcantar's office — also time-worn and lacking the aesthetic appeal of most doctors' work areas — is a small diploma indicating he studied radiotherapy at the Chicago Tumor Institute in 1950.

"I have been giving Laetrile injections since December of last year," he said in excellent English.

"Most of my patients come from the United States and represent all levels of society. They all have one thing in common—cancer—and are treated alike."

Alcantar said the average period of treatment is 10 weeks, although "some patients have been on Laetrile five or six months at a stretch. It all depends on the individual, the type of cancer involved and the outcome of the urinalysis."

He said many patients leave his care with a "clean bill of health" and that others return to be retreated.

The Citizen interviewed 19 of Alcantar's patients. They said they gain weight, get their appetites back and lose the feeling of pain following Laetrile injections.

What is this drug that apparently prolongs the life of terminal cancer patients and is being used legally in several other countries?

Laetrile, a shortening of the compound identified as LAEvo-mandelonITRILE —betaglucuronoside, has been in existence

Dr. Antonio C. Alcantar

(Citizen Photo)

Continued Page 5

Inside Today's Citizen

Dr. Alvarez	11
Bridge	10
Comics	25
Crossword Puzzle	40
Deaths	48
Editorials	28
Financial News	44-45
Movie Times	24
Sports	29-33
TV-Radio Dials	23
Woman's View	15-18

$19,065 CHECK ISSUED IN ERROR

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Investigators say a suburban housewife took a $19,065 check issued in error by a county computer and promptly spent the money in one big, wonderful weekend in Las Vegas.

Jayne Shearer, 37, was jailed on a grand theft charge and released Wednesday night on $1,100 bail.

Since 1963 she has received $15 a week in child support from a former husband now living in Atlanta, Ga. The man sent the money to Los Angeles court trustees, and the county issued $15 warrants to Mrs. Shearer.

Here is how the affair was described by investigators:

The $19,065 was delivered to her home in suburban Montebello on Sept. 27, and investigators say Mrs. Shearer took it to her bank immediately.

There she cashed it, investigators said, drawing cashier's checks for $5,000 and $10,000 and putting the balance in her checking account.

That day, they said, Mrs. Shearer and her husband Albert, a used car salesman, went to an automobile agency in La Habra and got a 1968 car for $3,700. The car was picked up the next day in return for a $5,000 cashier's check.

A day later, the Shearers returned to pick up a $1,300 check representing their change.

"The couple said they won the $5,000 at the races," a car salesman said.

Then Albert and Jaynee Shearer went to Las Vegas, Nev., for the weekend.

Only $5,000 or so of the $19,065 could be recovered, the district attorney's office said Wednesday.

The county auditor's office discovered the computer's error and issued a stop-payment order. The car was confiscated with only 28 miles on the speedometer.

Mrs. Shearer was quoted by investigators as saying she didn't know what the check was for and that, after she cashed it, she gave the balance of the money to her husband.

Shearer was quoted as saying only that he has none of the money now.